

CURVES AHEAD

Sherryl White culls together some high-powered accoutrements made of luxe materials to stage a starry night.

SHARP EDGES

Jallu Ebénistes is a virtuoso of The Golden Age of Furniture. He boasts the honor of being the only furniture maker in Europe to have mastered all of the finishes developed in France during the Art Deco period. His "Roxy Cabinet" is a museum-quality piece that dazzles both the heart and the eye. It features a maze of artful shears of selenite encased in brass. Selenite is known as the stone of love, and its powerful forces are whispered to dispel negativity. Everyone could benefit from having such an enchanting storage cabinet. "Roxy Cabinet" by Jallu Ebénistes, $45,544, yannjallu.net

HANDLE THE CURVES

Designer/architect Grégoire de Lafforest has conjured spaces for a veritable crowd of Paris fashion cognoscenti. He collaborated on the corporate headquarters for Hermès and the Cartier jewelry shops. His take on a lounge chair is an enchanting marriage of Carrara marble and supple leather. Taking its cue from 70s-style motorbikes, it is a study in contrasts: the coldness of marble married with the warmth of buttery leather; the straight line of the seat meeting its curved back. Made with comfort in mind, it beckons you to slide in to read, watch a film, or imagine the festivities in store for the night. Opper Lounge Chair by Grégoire de Lafforest, $20,440, galeriegossez.com

BY CANDLELIGHT

If these candleholders look ready for take-off, there's good reason: the designers, David Raffoul and Nicolas Moussallem, sought inspiration from rockets bounding into intergalactic space. These striking sculptures are made to encourage the discovery of beautiful realms with or without the candle, but infused with light they take on another dimension. Handmade of nobly appointed Carrara marble and polished brass, these night lights shine very bright. "Explorer Candles" by David/Nicolas, $900, davidandnicolas.com

Boyajian Trend Gallery
Mauveless bracelet,
$65, boyajiantrendgallery.com

MIRROR, MIRROR

Brother and sister duo Juan and Paloma Garrido have taken over design duties at the notable Garrido Gallery. Started by their fêted late father, the Spanish silversmith Damián Garrido, they have become stars in their own right. Their pieces are collectors' items, all made in limited editions. Their work is infused with the gallant lines found in geometry, and constructed in age-old techniques that inspire heavenly exploration. This eye-catching mirror displays your best angles in rare form. Gold Cuspide Mirror by Juan & Paloma Garrido, garridogallery.com

GOT A LIGHT?

Harking back to a time of old Hollywood where smoking was de rigueur, this ashtray brings the past present. Crafted of caviar stingray and black cracking mother of pearl, it begs to be seen and can be used in many ways. It makes the perfect backdrop for glamorous jewels, candy, or any shimmering accessory you want to display. Havana Ashtray, cravtoriginal.com

CIRCLE OF LIGHT

The making of this light resembles the process of bringing high fashion to life. In a limited edition of 10, the artists, Marc Dibeh and Marc Baroud, weave a magical composition in which they reimagined classic techniques. They took on the task of showing the myriad ways they could sew on a space. The fluid result came together after bisecting steel rods and contouring steel thread to masterfully shape triangles, rectangles, circles and diamonds into this statuette that moonlights as a lamp. "Wires Lamp" by Marc Dibeh & Marc Baroud, artfactumgallery.com

